Professor Noggin's Card Games Win Best Children's Vacation Products Award

Victoria, BC, May 28, 2003 – The Kid-friendly Professor Noggin's Card Game Series was honored today as one of Dr. Toy's Best Vacation Products.

Professor Noggin's Card Game Series is a trademark of Outset Media. Company president David Manga said the award, which is geared to highlight strong summertime items, is complementary to the playability of Professor Noggin's games.

"Professor Noggin's Card Games are ideal for road trips, or any type of extended vacation. They can be played at home or on a holiday because you don't need to sit around a conventional table – you can play them anywhere," Manga said.

Professor Noggin's Card Game Series, which features 12 educational titles on subjects dealing with nature, science, and history, for children ages 7 and up, also won a Parents' Choice Award in December for its playability and educational value.

Each game combines trivia, true/false, and multiple choice questions using 30 professionally illustrated game cards. Players make unusual discoveries while questioning each other on fascinating facts. A special three-numbered dice is included, which creates interaction and promotes communication between players.

Dr. Stevanne Auerbach, (aka Dr. Toy) is an expert in children's products, education and development. Based in San Francisco, CA, she is the author of 15 books. Her Best Vacation Products selection provides children with experiences to help them learn during the summertime.

Outset Media was founded in 1996 by David Manga. The company designs, manufactures, and distributes games, with a present product line of over 40 family games.
